

Acadfly Case Study and Product Design

- Objective:
1. Identify and justify the top three metrics and choose a north star that will guide the success and growth of the app.
 2. Based on the identified metrics, develop a step-oriented roadmap. This should include:
 - Objectives and Key Results (OKRs): Define clear objectives/reasoning and key results aligned with the identified metrics.
 - Feature Prioritization: Outline the main features to be developed, prioritized according to their impact on the key metrics
 3. Create a wireframe for one of the features depicting the end to end user journey.

Key Metrics

Churn Rate

Justification: The churn rate measures the number of users who stop using the platform over a specific period. Lower churn rate indicates that the platform effectively retains its users, a critical factor for sustainable growth.

Conversion Rate

Justification: The conversion rate measures how effectively the platform guides students through the entire process, from exploration to final campus arrival. Higher conversion rates indicate a seamless and supportive user experience.

Support Response Time

Justification: This metric measures how quickly the customer support team responds to user inquiries. Faster response times can improve user satisfaction and trust in the platform's support system.

*NOTE- There may be several other metrics upon which success and growth of the platform may be based.
